

9/11 -- The Angel Closes the Rain

by Jerry Ratch

We were clinging to hope and innocence
Until the second jet struck the Twin Towers
That was when real evil twisted our hearts
And we were left without prayer, or power

Yes, a couple holding hands jumped from the building
But when I was the only one left to hold me
Only then did I notice the pain
When I witnessed an angel closing the rain

