

Brother Dream

by Jerry Ratch

It's always daylight there My brother comes running down the sidewalk holding out his arms and calling my name He's wearing suspenders. He's gotten thinner in heaven
He embraces me warmly wanting us to be friends
I give up trying to resist
I don't know why I ever did in real life
