

Brother Dream

by Jerry Ratch

It's always daylight there

My brother comes running down the sidewalk holding out his arms and calling my name

He's wearing suspenders. He's gotten thinner in heaven

He embraces me warmly

wanting us to be friends

I give up trying to resist

I don't know why I ever did in real life

