

I heard You Like the Back Seat, Honey

by Jerry Ratch

I heard that you like the back seat, Honey It's okay if you do
I'm just like you

They said you knew everything in advance and you were prettier than most too Said you were always aware what I was up to, and did not care

They say you knew everything there was to know and just did not care because you were so carefree yourself, wild and untamed Well, I was the same

I only know that laughter is a full-time job and I've been laid-off lately

The wind's been howling for a long time and needs you to fill its emptiness longing, and inner silence with the hope and purity of pleasure you originally brought to this world

The wind's been howling and needs you to fulfill its voice
