It's Legal Here

by Jerry Ratch

You may think it's illegal Well, you'd be wrong, ya hear? Cause you're just in the wrong Neck of the woods And it's legal here Want some beer? Yeah, that's right It's legal here

Don't go opening the door Any wider, I know You don't really wanna know If he's there beside her

Put your shotgun back In your truck and go on home Go out to the bars and Buy some drinks for your friends And thank God above For your salvation You could have saved the nation With that behavior But you're our savior now

Well I see flamingoes Eating tomatoes Now we know what Makes them pink And I know exactly What you think But I'm here to tell you It's legal here

Available online at «http://fictionaut.com/stories/jerry-ratch/its-legal-here» Copyright © 2017 Jerry Ratch. All rights reserved.

So quit making a stink Put down your drink Put that shotgun back On the rack in your truck Go down to the lake And take a leak In fact, take a week If necessary

Cause your behavior And your attitude Is making this whole thing Seem pretty scary Just have another drink Before you end up in the clink

I'm telling you what he done To your lady-friend, well I gotta tell you, son It's kinda legal round here

Just shut your yap And drink your beer It's legal where you're from And it's legal here

It's legal here It's legal there It's pretty much legal Most everywhere