Low On the Hog

by Jerry Ratch

Living lower on the hog than anticipated lower on the hog than previously expected lower on the hog than desired

Living on the underside of the hog belly pretty much bouncing on the ground beneath the aforementioned hog belly

Living closer to the hog's butt than would be desired having your nose rubbed in hog butt from time to time scrambling to get out of the way of an oncoming pork belly

Living off an unusually skinny hog who apparently hasn't been hogging all that much and could stand a refresher course in what it means to be a hog at all

Wishing we had never gotten into all this hogging in the first place considering going back to hanging out pretty much with pure turkey turkey appears to be where it's at lately

Being associated with turkeys would be the way who really needs a hog anyway when there are so many turkeys in the nation

Ah, screw it, stick with the hogs, it's too late run with the hogs, that would be the way running with the hogs through Pamplona