My Spirit Floated Free

by Jerry Ratch

Some girls got out of a cab at 4 a.m. in the morning yelling, shouting, loud
A door swung open
You could hear her one of them going up the stairs across the way

The cab started back up and drove off The last thing I heard was a loud retch The loudest retch I have ever heard from one angel

But the sprit floated free You may have a hard time believing that, but the sprit floated free I heard it become detached myself