

Real Love, Real

by Jerry Ratch

For the first time in her life
She felt she understood
The smell of a man.

The smell of white tulips,
The taste of a persimmon
In her mouth.

She remembered how married she felt
To him, in that moment. How close
To the earth, and ancient, and un-alone.

