

The Infamous Kiss

by Jerry Ratch

When the sailor heard the 2nd
World War had just ended
He grabbed the woman in the white dress
 Bent her backwards in Times Square
And kissed her real good

And the photographer
 Just happened to be there
 At the right moment

 But then
As soon as the kiss was over
The pair went their separate ways

