

To The Little Mouse Who Started Feeling Slightly Nauseous

by Jerry Ratch

I heard them praying to some god none of us had ever heard of.

I'm glad I went to the funeral and still have the yellow rose that I did not throw into his grave.

At some point
you have to stop nibbling
from the moldy cake.

