Undressing The Moon

by Jerry Ratch

the white moon is dangling by a thread tonight you close your eyes and listen to it undress and suppress, suppress you listen to it undress while you yourself hang lifeless in your own arms not meaning to do yourself any harm, not meaning to do yourself harm and only by its gentleness can you come back from that edge