

Years of Co-Dependency

by Jerry Ratch

The next thing I knew, the waiter was pouring wine into all our glasses.

“How did you know we needed more wine?” I asked.

His face grew red as he smiled,
“Many years of co-dependency, honey.”

