

When Do We Breathe?

by Johnny Dantonio

I find it so strange:

We spend our whole lives holding our breath,
waiting for someone who will take it away.

