Zippers.

by Katrine Kunst

Things had started to fall apart.

And not only things

things that were meant to keep other things together.
Three zippers in two months had fallen apart.

I needed to connect.