

I didn't ask for help

by Kirk B. Young

I asked for what was best.
I asked for what was right.
I asked for stillness and to savor every night you can ask but don't tell feel your center swell with pride that coincides with love, memory motivation makes circles appear lines Just close your eyes to see the light.

