

clouded

by Kitty Boots

clouds

white, edged with gray against a dishwater sky sun-shot columns break through releasing the smell of snow, ozone hiding the faces of obscure men who wave pennants of promise under the noses of the weary

