

Farm

by Kitty Boots

the Lewis brothers planted winter wheat last year their fields look barren in the summer sun golden stubble
no corn or soybeans

untilled, weedy, left to rest nourishment when they plow in the fall and turn all the good things under

a bachelor and a widower
they grow again

