here, winter

by Kitty Boots

a day so brittle with wispy breath, a struggling sun that failed to wake the trees smeared against a sky with vaporous clouds