

Looking for Comments

by Laura McCollough Moss

So do you read my writing?
I text you
I need to know what you like better
The blood
or the guts
That's what it is.
You see I put it out there
for you.
That's not what it says
but I know the truth.
Am I smart enough
good enough
do you think it's crap because anyone can like it but you're the only one who matters.
I imagine your impressions as I put it down.
Predict your criticism
crave your praise.
How to tell the story
in a way
you will understand.
There's more to me.

