Where did the time go?

by LiamSanc

It feels like only a month ago I thought about calling you. Feels like a week ago started an email to send you and didn't. A few days ago that I nearly sent a text.

It is almost a year since you killed yourself. Where did the time go?