

to a gregarious stranger

by M. F. Sullivan

conversation with an unmet friend,
as lives cross on the bus;
worries are leaves in the wind.

