to a gregarious stranger

by M. F. Sullivan

conversation with an unmet friend, as lives cross on the bus; worries are leaves in the wind.