

magnets

by Marda Miller

he was luminescent
under the moonlight his skin glistened like a sharp blade
which she was painfully
aware
would slice
into her
if she got too close

next time, she'd wear the armour.

