

Becoming

by Mathew Paust

Ego bereft of consistency

Betrays a heart hungering to toll.

Unable to trust its will

Or harbor imaginary gods,

It gains a hold melding into a role whose proven viability

Can give convincing cover

To buy time to fabricate

An identity that feels unique,

Yet not so much so

As to strand it in the universe

Bereft of soulful company.

