1234

by Michael Tusa

So much noise in my alphabet
My letters are getting lost in the soup

I can't hear passed the sound of steam and broth
Ringing in my ears

But I do not need my ears to see your Soft blonde Noodles
Long golden carrots
Small stalks of brilliant bright green celery

Available online at «http://fictionaut.com/stories/michael-tusa/1234»
Copyright © 2024 Michael Tusa. All rights reserved.