

Drunk and Driving the Family Home

by Michael Tusa

I felt like-
God plucked from heaven, shrunk to the size of a pin.

Fastened to the point of a Boeing 747, carrying only dead weight passengers.

