

The Rest of the Story of Mom

by Michael Tusa

Hiding behind the sweet sounds of crying.
Slumping low below the kitchen counter.

Counting tile, after tile, after tile.
Easing her hand with her other hand.

Sweeping the rest behind some soft curtain.
Panicked and begging for Jesus.

