

Miranda

by Paul Hargreaves

Well, at least it's not mine this time, she thought, studying the spattered blood where the policewoman had cinched the handcuffs.

