

Disappear Everywhere

by Peter Erich

I put my forehead onto your forehead
We meet at this little dot of temperature
We breathe hushstrokes over the hills and purses of our bodies
This is where we are three-dimensional
This is when we conquer our heroes and monsters

