How to Have a Dinner Party

by Peter Erich

One -

Invite those surviving in your memory.

Two -

Too often cubed, serve cheese in large portions as it puts guests into a coma. Oh, and no wine. It is a fat tradition and will give one opinions.

Three -

Disagreeable, but we need them - toothpicks are thee acoustic guitars of pre dinner conversation. Accompany a scotch list for the men with ascots.

Four -

Sherbet is hard cash.

Five -

Leave early. Have someone likable tell a grand lie: The event was too simple. You are sorry for leading them on and must insist they fuck themselves.

Available online at «http://fictionaut.com/stories/peter-erich/how-to-have-a-dinner-party»
Copyright © 2012 Peter Erich. All rights reserved.