LLC by Peter Erich

Arguments of calculators in palms multiplied by knees tucked into desks for eighty hours a week equals the loss of feeling in my cashew toes and what sound sneaks in but the voice of my child in footie pajamas standing in the door frame on a crusade for more time with me.

Available online at «http://fictionaut.com/stories/peter-erich/llc» Copyright © 2014 Peter Erich. All rights reserved.