

The Trappings of the Rabbit

by Rabbit Angstrom

- 1) It would glisten like a light but on most days I was full throttled, bolted against a wall.
- 2) Suffocation, and turned to the off position; darkness, then a light gray is much better when the oxygen slowly stops because all will go black soon enough.
- 3) There are things in the process of decay that wilt, leaves that mold and turn to deafening, cagey, storming dew.
- 4) Recombinant growth occurs with newness tomorrow.
- 5) Darling, soon enough the battle for sin and violence, hedging bets against a netherworld shape for beauty, ill kept secrets for sun and dance, sun and moon-shaped universes in the sky.
