

break

by Rene Foran

what's the matter?
his words
hung
mid air mingling
with the late afternoon
shuffle and dust

take my hand
she exhaled
deflating the inevitable
i can't anymore
i just seem to be stuck
is all

she poured the bone colored
grit into her coffee
watching
as it turned a lighter shade of resignation

