

55 Words #1

by Robert Salley

She texted me relentlessly and I would roll my eyes, give one word replies or a smiley face. I would then push her out of my mind as quickly as the delete button would erase her words.

I turn back to my phone, awaiting another to answer a message I've sent.

A one word reply.

