

Office M

by stephen hastings-king

There is an office M. M attests to the correctness of certifications provided in the upper right quadrant of your paperwork by offices H through L in order to insure compliance with the special requirements of office N. N completes the quadrant. O begins the lower right.

M is an array of stations. Every station is a white desk with gold touches. Behind every desk there is a gold throne. A functionary is seated on every throne. Every station is an abstract suburban bedroom set. Every office is a Trump penthouse.

It is a sunny day in the autumn of the patriarch. The air is laced with decay.
