

Grammaria

by Steven Miller

With the sudden addition of a comma and a pronoun, the clause declared its independence. "All of this is mine," it thought and then, surveying the drastic decrease in territory, it sighed a brief sigh--marked only by an indecipherable ellipsis...

