

Move Along

by Tim G. Young

Where do you think you're going what'll you think you'll do running down this highway that you never even knew Better pack your suitcase filled with stuff that's warm you'll need some protection once the blue skies turn to storm

But you will yeah you will Move along

It don't really matter what you left behind you ain't going nowhere if you never change your mind

Even when your ride is running out of fuel you'll need to remember what it takes to break the rules

And you will yeah you will Move along

Then step into the unknown wherever it may lead until you find your reflection in a time where you can be

For once you see yourself in a place that's fresh and new you'll know why you were running and what you have to do

And you will
yes you will Move along
