

Silence of Joy

by Tim G. Young

Stretched white cloud adrift in blue motionless as dew

silent as a cat

naked

Rough winds blow

then come and go

like a reflection

vanishes

My own life

like the edge of a knife

slices time

deep

In mines of pleasure

no wealth can measure

the silence of

joy

left behind.

