A Rare Meteor Shower

Now, as we sat on lawn chairs on the balcony to watch the meteor shower, I thought that God might have created all this man, woman, snake, apple, ark, flood, the devil, goodness, evil, Jesus, crucifixion, angels, hell, heaven only so we could find ourselves holding hands while bathing in the light of rocks on fire, ignited by their fall. Everything else that follows is meaningless debris, a long wrapping up, because it is all over. This universe has done what it was meant to do. I have loved among the dying stars.