"Honestly, I'm Not a Fan of Your Poetry"

by XXXX

I will admit it.

I cannot write poetry to save my life—

but surely one must try to save one's life?

If someone attacks you with an axe, you raise your arms to your face

even if that's a stupid thing to do.

We do it because we are animals.

These lines are the veins of my hands. I cover my head with them

even if that's a stupid thing to do

because in any case I am hacked to pieces.