

Portrait of the Author as a Poet

by XXXX

I am an awful poet. My images are stale, my line breaks predictable.
I know no other device apart from apostrophe, hyperbaton, and the occasional, accidental consonance.
I am an awful poet because you are supposed to lay your life down on the page and my life has the viscosity of stagnant water.

